The friend whom I like best starded me the other day by declaring that his intellect stopp d short at pactry. This friend is a man of more than ordinary intelligence. He is quick witted and clever well read and well bred. He lives to the country and loves nature. His heart is warm and generous as the sunshine. He has a soft magnetic voice with a care-sing tone or eatch in it more as if it care, tone is best than his tonema and his if it came from his beart than his tongue and his ords melt info each other with the softness of dewitops on roke leaves but he does not know that it is like listening to the melodicus rhythm of a dreamy point to close one's eyes and hear him talk. There is something wrong if the intellect of such a man with such a volce stops short at poetry. It ought not to stop there, and I do no cuite believe that it does—New Orleans Prequenc.

The explanation lies in the fact that mannen who ever they do not care for poetry are thinking of the metrical form rather than the if it came from his beart than his tongue and his thinking of the metrical form rather than the sparit of poetry. The most popular fiction in the world is that which displays the most poetic quality. Take the drammic and poetic quality out of Scott and Dickens, and what would there he lat? The superintendent of the free kindergartens, who, of course, is an earnest advocate of the scheme to attach the kindergarten to the public school system, permits herself to make a fling at THE OREGONAR in a report which we print in another column. She says that among those who have visited the kindengartens here and investigated their workings there has been no representative of The Oregonian, the intimation being that this journal knows nothing about the indergraten and is therefore not competent to treat of the question as to its annextion to the school system. Having learned long ago to expect neither intelligent comprehension nor cancer. school system, permits herself to make a fling at pect neither intelligent comprehension nor can-d d treatment from riders of hobbles, this misrepresentation gives small offense. The rules of the English house of commons The rules of the English house of commons that the occasions and the scope of motions for adjournment of either the house or the debate, g ve the speaker power of calling the attention of the house to continued tediousness and irrelevancy on the part of a member, and of taking the general sense of the house on any debate, and, if supported by a three-fourths materity, of no ting the question without further jority, of pu ting the question without further debate. The rules also prevent the possibility of debate on the motion for the house to go into committee on any matter declared urgent and committee on any matter declared urgent and limit members to a single speech. The principle of cloture, or closure, is contained in the rule which allows the speaker, under the urgency rules, to appeal to the house, and, if supported by a three-fourths majority, to put the question from the chair at once without further debate.

I bited States Marshal Kelly, says a Helena paper of Saturday is in the city. He says the warrants for the arrest of their ranchmen living near Billings, charged with cutting wood on the Crow reservation, have not been served, and action is suspended for the present, awaring instructions from the district attorney. If then other complaints have been faid, but no wurrants have yet been issued. Marshal Kelly takes a charitable view of the situation regarding the depredations committed as but small, and the timber cut as being for necessary fuel.

IS THIS THE WAY TO MAKE A CITY? Some weeks back an agent o wast capital in San Francisco came to Fortland looking for opportunities of investment. Among various things in view was the construction of a system of cable street cars to cover the more populous parts of Portland and to come t with a horse car sigs sun in East Portland, by way of the Mortleon street by fee. The opticing would have rison street by dge. This enterprise would have called for the direct expenditure of nearly a million follars, adding that much to the permanent wealth of the cit. It would have stimulated local trulke and helyed business in many ways. But the scheme could not be carried out Why Because some body holds certain street evidence when body holds certain street railway rights acquired from the crysfor the acking and will not not to with them for less than a royal fortune. Theoreted and disgusted the agent abandoned the scheme. The propell I represent, he sale "must decline to pay the city of Portland for the righter of divide her to be suffered to the control of the past of the control of privilege of do ur her the greatest service that is possible at this time. In other cines," he continued, "enterprise and capital is welcomed, but in Portland I find nothing but discouragement and specta?" ment and snerre."

Some months ago Messrs, Jacobs Brothers, of this city, who operate the Oregon City woolen mille, discovered a lot of such wool as they need ed on one of the docks. It was found to belong to ed on one of the docks. It was round we decome one of the oldest, largest and richest firms in the city, and an effort was made to buy it. 'We will may you said Messre, Jacobs Bros, the city, and an effort was made to buy it. 'We will pay you,' seal Messry, Jacobs Bros, the current price at San Francisco.' This offer was declined, but after much higgling the wool was bought, Messra, Jacobs Bros, agreeing to pay a fixed price at a certain future date, with more if the current rate at the time specified should have advanced, but without rebute if the current rate should be less—a clear discrimination against the Oregon buyer. "This discrimination against the Oregon buyer." nation," says a member of the firm, "we mas nation," says a member of the firm, "we meet in many aggravating forms, It is a fact that we cannot always how wool from merchants here on equal terms with foreign buyers. And in marketing our product we find on the part of dealers a satisfy prejudice against Oregon goods, though these such dealers will aftentimes buy our cloths in the San Francisco market and bring them back, with the cost of carriage both ways and of handling in San Francisco added?" Some time back a commany was organized to Some time back a company was organized to build a narrow guage railroad to the Columbia odic a narrow guage railroad to the Columbin river, connecting with Vancouver by ferry. The plan was complete and the capital promised. There was every prespect of success. At this point a certain Portiand banker and financier saw fit to advise the eastern capitalist who had promised the money that the scheme was will and foolish, and that the thing would not pay. Negotiations ceased and there is no railroad to vancouver.

ancouver. There was recently a proposition to build a theater in keeping with the size and importance of the city, the money to be supplied by an east-ern capitalist, but the investor was advised by a local capitalist (who collects rents yielding forty per cent. each year on his own investment) that there would be no profit in such a building in Portland And so we have no theater that is cred

Le this the way to make a great city? THE GROWING MAN

Gladatone's attitude of opposition to the Irish occion bill is another proof that he deserves to e classed with Sir Robert Peel and Abraham Luncoin sas man that had rather be right than to present a persent record of wrong Peel for gears had been a protectionist, but the moment he made up his mind that he was wrong he repeated the corn laws and declared himself for a neither whose without for a policy whose ultimate became England a present free trade, although Pest never lived to present free trade, although Pest hever lived to see his new faith in bright, consummate Hower Lincoln grav after he became president. The man who as late as May, 1862, rejected Gen Hunter's emancipation policy as he had that of Fremont in the autimn of 1861, proclaimed emancipation in September, 1802. The average statesman of Ergiand and America seidom grows, or if he dees he grown down, as Webster, and Seward did in their last years.

Gladstone is the old man optimist, in contrast with poor, old peevish John Bright, who during the last down years has become a pessimist. The

the last dozen years has become a pessimist. The once sweet beils of his voice have become alregistic through chronic ill health, but Gladstone in the lighty winter of blacking the control of the strong chronic ill health, but Gladstone in the lighty winter of his age grows more kindly, and to-day, when taunted with his own record of coercion in 1881 S2 he answers in manly tones, 'Yes, I tried coercion tried it thoroughly it falled miserably, and I do not reuse to be tought by my experience' In other words taght by my experience. In other words Gladstone would rather turn his back on error than to plead a past mistake as a reason for repeating it or for helping anybody else reperpeliate a costly error in governmental policy. An ass is always consistent, he always brays that is his only note, and no better proof of intellectual dishonesty or dullness can be furnished than a cry for consistency, which indicts a man, who has outgrown his errors and turned his face toward the sun, as either weak or wicked herous he infriess to as either weak or wicked because he refuses to make his mistakes the rule of his future conduct, lest somebody twit him with inconsistency To confess that coercion was a mistake and to regret it is consistent with candor, and implies the capacity for growth which distin proper the capacity for growth which distinguishes a mere B utbon politic an from a true, progressive statesman who rises to the level of the emergency and keeps step with the best macro of the feature. But G adstone might fair ; here answere I that this coercion act the 57th that Eagland has tried to apply to Iroland sin e 1900 has nothing introduction in the i casent situa ion of Ireland compared with that of 1881 When Gladstone passed his cased on bill the number of agrange outrages for 180 was 2590 For the quarter of 1850 that ended in Septem agrarian crimes were but 305, while in the December quarter, during which the home rule and rent plan of campaign was conceived and put into operation the agrarian crimes throughout the whole of Ireland diminished to it. There is less orline in Ireland now than as any time for the last five years, and yet this ripe with this time. as any time for the last five years and yet this crime bill is the worst that was ever aimed at I sland. It is samed not only at crime for there is is scrime in Ire and than in England or Soot find but it samed at the home rule campaign and the national league, whose only or me is that it is she lify and resistis-say marching to a victorious solution of the Irish question with out resort to violence or it egal action of any sort. If this coercion bill passes the executive government of Ireland can dissolve any pub c association at its will can try before two paid magnificate, removable at its pleasure any min who makes speeches that are disapproved and who makes speaches that are disapproved and can put such a man into prison and treat him as a common felon. This bill abolishes the juty spelem in cases of criminal conspiracy bujecting, rioting, and various agrarian offenses in comparison with this bill (riadstone's coercion acts of 1861-82 were moderate measure ter could arrest "suspects," but they had a right to a jury trial, while under the present bill two magistrates can send bundreds to juil for s x months Furthermore, when Gladstone brought in his last crimes act he did it under the pressure of the terrible state of public feeling that en-sued on the murder of Burke and Lord (aven

The present act is sumed at the anti-reat plan of campaign, the justice of which is confessed by the report of the government's own commission, that declares that existing rents are nearly 20 per cent, too high The present bill practi-cally packs the court against the accused, and it places all public speakers, writers and conductors of newspapers at the mercy of supendiary magistrates holding their places at the pleasure of the crown. It is worthy of Russia but dis graceful to England At the last general election Gladatine's home rule policy was indured by a majority of the voters in Scotland and by a majority of the voters in Scotland and by so large a minority of the people of England that in the whole poil the triadstone party were but 75 000 rotes behind the victors. Fifty-six of Salisbury's adherents gained their seats by a majority of less than one tenth of the total votes polled in the constituency. Their aggregate majorities were but little over 8000, while the accretion, number of vactors in these Settlemans of the constituency. majorities were but little over 800, while the aggregate number of voters in these fifty-aix constituencies is about .60 000. The crimes act will pass but it will ful. If Parnell with a rollowing of thirty or forty could foil and over throw (indicatons, but will hardle soll with a feel.) throw Gladstone, he will hardly fail with a following of eighty-seven, and Gladstone, Morley and Labouchere for allies, to overthrow Salls

SPIRIL NOT FORM.

The friend whom I like best startled me the other day by declaring that his intellent stopped short at poetry. This friend is a man of more than ordinary intelligence. Ho is quick witted and ciever well rend and well bred. He lives in the country and oven nature. His heart is warm and generous us the sunshine. He has a sift magnetic voice with a care-sung tone or each in it more as if it came from his heart than his torgue and his noted mell into some with the heart free in If it came from his heart thus his torgue and his ords melt into each other with the softness of dewdrops on rose leaves but he does not know that it is like betening to the melodious raythm of a dreamy point to close one seyes and hear him talk. There is something wrong if the intellect of such a man with such a voice stops short at poetry. It ought not to stop there and I do not pille believe that it does—Act or it can be decided by the property of the supplemental to the fact that many men who are they do not early for metric are.

men who arer they do not care for postry are thinking of the metrical form rather than the sparit of poetry. The most popular fiction in the world is that which displays the most poetic quality. Take the dramatic and poetic quality out of Scott and Dickens, and what would there he let?—Take the poetic square and form where be left? Take the positic color and form out of cratory, and how much would there he left of elequence? Bob Ingersoll is a popular platform speaker even on finance. Why? Because he has an imaginative quality which colors and warms the season of the position of the posit has an imaginative quality which colors and warms his speech, and every man who applauds bin unconsciously takes off his hat to the posite, meganative side of the man. Ingersoll's logic is not keener than any bright banker could offer who bent his brains to the husaness of exposing the fallacy of demagogue finance, but the banker is clear, cold, colorless, while Ingersoll puts all the colors of the rainbow into his speech, and his dramatic, poetic way of putting home his speech makes a thousand men listen who do not read many books of poetry, perhaps, but nevertheless always listen when the orator plays on the pipe of imagination or fancy the pipe of imagination or fancy

The superintendent of the free kindergartens, who, of course, is an earnest advocate of the scheme to attach the kindergarten to the public school system, permits herself to make a fling at The Obergontan in a report which we print in another column. She says that among those who have visited the kindergartens have and investigated their workings there has been no reported. who have visited the kindergartens here and investigated theis workings there has been no representative o' The Orregonian, the intimation being that this journal knows nothing about the kindergarten and is therefore not competent to treat of the juestion as to its annex ion to the school system. Having learned long ago to expect neither intelligent comprehension nor canned treatment from riders of hobbles, this misrepresentation gives small offense. But we beg leave to remind the lady that The Orrocoman did not take a point as to the marite of the kindergarten system. All that is calined for kindergarien system All that is calimed for this system was admitted in express terms. The question was directed only as to the policy of attaching a child's nursery department to the schools and thereby increasing their scope and cost.

The rules of the English house of commons limit the occasions and the scope of motions for adjournment of either the house or the debate, aujornment of either the house or the debate, give the speaker power of calling the attention of the house to continued tediousness and ir relevancy on the part of a member, and of taking the general sense of the house on any debute, and, if supported by a three fourths majority, of puting the question without further debate. The rules also prevent the possibility of debate on the motion for the house to go into committee on any matter declared prepart and of detate on the motion for the house to go into committee on any matter declared argent and limit members to a single speech. The princi-ple of cloture, or closure, is contained in the rule which allows the speaker, under the ur-gency rules, to appeal to the house, and, if sup-ported by a three-fourths majority, to put the question from the chair at once without further debate seems to be good and sufficient reasons to apprehend unusually high water this season. Great quantities of snow are known to have failen during the past winter months on the mountain ranges which aross, in different directions, the vast area of country embraced in the limits of Eastern Oregon and Washington, also of Idalo and pertions of Mentana and British Columbia. The Columbia. Stake, Clearwater, Chair's forth and toeir numerous and far-reaching tributaries drain this immense region; and the masses of water which are locked up in snowy and key fetters and require only the lot days of May and June to sulcosen are simply stupendous. All of these watery should be made to these watery should be made to the sound of the snow to dissolve and reach the ocean. From the most reliable authority it is learned the snow is deep in all the mountains and canyous, and that, as yet, little or none has metted. The spring has thus far been extremely backward. Cold rains have been frequent and cloudy skies have generally prevailed. An old resident of the ioland Empire told a reporter yesterday that, in his judgment, there would be very high water this year. He says the snow is there, and all that is needed is warm weather to bring it down. This time last year, he said a great deal had afready disappeared; not one-third, he would venture, of the snow has been dissolved this acases on the date of the comparatively coel until say the middle of May, and then turns off tropical, we can look out for our cellars and lay in a supply of gumbooks. As three little mades from school in Mikado say, that all depends, you know, just what cort of a deal old Sol 19 going to give us this spring."

As usual, the weather and water prophet and the oldest inhabitant are predicting a regular June boomer. Atmost every year there are any number of prognostications as to high water in the Sanke, Columbia and Willamette rivers, and frequently these prophecies prove false. However, there seems to be good and sufficient reasons to apprehend unqually high water this easen.

The Suits which we manufacture for this department are made for the express purpose of supplying the wants of gentlemen who, believing that the best is the cheapest, are willing to pay a fair price for garments that have been made from carefully select-that have been made from carefully selected, thoroughly tested, honest materials, and by skillful, intelligent, well paid labor.

Prudent people deal with us, knowing that the prices we put on our goods are, considering the quality, always the lowest. They know, also, that we put before them no old stock, but shietly new goods in their season.

Although we have had but little real spring weather as yet, our sales of Light-Weight Suits have surpassed our greatest expectations, compelling us to telegraph east for immediate supplies. This is not so cast for immediate supplies. This is not so surprising when you consider that our disputy this spring has never been equated in the northwest, for Elegance and Chadity, while prices are lower than ever before. Some men usually have poor huck in finding ready-made clothing to fit. They come in here with an expression of immediating as they say, "Let's see those Spring Over-Coats or Suits you advertise." The expression becomes one of satisfaction the moment the gentleman beholds in a mirror how perfectly the garments lit, and he is at once convinced that he can get of us just what he wants in the way of a Spring

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPRIDY and FERMANENT cure of Agne and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to hear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the direct conservativity followed and carried out. In a great many case a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfoct restoration of the general health. It is, however, pradent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller dose, for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, requires oatharti medicino, after having telecular of the coses of the Tenic, a single dose of RENTE VIGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.
